

Object Donations to the National Museum of the Marine Corps

We thank you for your interest in the National Museum of the Marine Corps. Our mission is to collect, preserve, and exhibit objects related to the history of the Marine Corps. If you are interested in making a donation of an object to the Museum, we ask that you send us a letter with a description of the item(s), to include background information on the object(s) that will enable us to evaluate your proposed donation. You may also leave this form at the reception desk where it will be forwarded to the Museum's Curatorial Services Department for review. A Museum representative will contact you.

Letters, photographs, and other archival documents are collected by the Gray Research Center archival staff at Marine Corps Base Quantico. The Museum staff uses these collections as they prepare exhibitions and conduct research for publications. If you have such materials you wish to donate, please contact Jim Ginther, Archives and Special Collections, Library of the Marine Corps, 2040 Broadway St., Quantico, VA 22134, (703) 784-4685, gintherja@grc.usmcu.edu.

Thank you for visiting the Museum and considering us as a repository for your keepsakes.
